Grant of Full Planning Permission

In the interests of visual amenity.

For information:-

- 1) The Council engages with all applicants in a positive and proactive way through specific pre-application enquiries, the detailed advice available on the Council's website and further discussion where appropriate to produce an acceptable development. This particular proposal was clearly in accordance with the Development Plan and so permission could be granted without any further discussion.
- 2) This notice of decision does not grant consent or imply any grant of consent for the applicant to enter onto any adjoining land, to either construct or subsequently to maintain the proposed development.
- 3) This permission does not absolve the applicant(s) from the requirements for compliance with a Building Regulation approval, or the duty of compliance with any requirements of any Statutory Body, Public Utility or Authority.

The applicant is advised that where any of the following apply, The Party Wall Act 1996 provisions are relevant, and you may well need to serve notice and get agreement from adjoining owners/neighbour(s) to carry out the work;

- work carried out directly to an existing party wall or structure
- new building at or astride the boundary line between properties
- excavation within 3 or 6 metres of a neighbouring building or structure depending on the depth of the hole or proposed foundations.

Unless the hours of working have been restricted by a condition of this permission, our recommended hours of noise generating activities during construction are:

- Monday to Friday from 8am to 6pm;
- Saturday from 8am to 1pm;
- Sunday and Bank Holidays – no noisy working.

To minimise the possibility of complaints, we suggest keeping your neighbours informed in advance of any particularly noisy works or large deliveries.

The proposed development lies within an area that has been defined by the Coal Authority as containing potential hazards arising from former coal mining activity. These hazards can include: mine entries (shafts and adits); shallow coal workings; geological features (fissures and break lines); mine gas and previous surface mining sites. Although such hazards are seldom readily visible, they can often be present and problems can occur in the future, particularly as a result of development taking place.

It is recommended that information outlining how the former mining activities affect the proposed development, along with any mitigation measures required (for example the need for gas protection measures within the foundations), be submitted alongside any subsequent application for Building Regulations approval (if relevant). Any form of development over or within the influencing distance of a mine entry can be dangerous and raises significant safety and engineering risks and exposes all parties to potential financial liabilities. As a general precautionary principle, the Coal Authority considers that the building over or within the influencing distance of a mine entry should wherever possible be avoided. In exceptional circumstance where this is unavoidable, expert advice must be sought to ensure that a suitable engineering design is developed and agreed with regulatory bodies which takes into account of all the relevant safety and environmental risk factors, including gas and mine-water. Your attention is drawn to the Coal Authority Policy in relation to new development and mine entries available at:

<https://www.gov.uk/government/publications/building-on-or-within-the-influencing-distance-of-mine-entries>

Any intrusive activities which disturb or enter any coal seams, coal mine workings or coal mine entries (shafts and adits) requires a Coal Authority Permit. Such activities could include site investigation boreholes, digging of foundations, piling activities, other ground works and any subsequent treatment of coal mine workings and coal mine entries for ground stability purposes. Failure to obtain a Coal Authority Permit for such activities is trespass, with the potential for court action.

Property specific summary information on past, current and future coal mining activity can be obtained from: www.groundstability.com or a similar service provider.

If any of the coal mining features are unexpectedly encountered during development, this should be reported immediately to the Coal Authority on 0345 762 6848. Further information is available on the Coal Authority website at:
www.gov.uk/government/organisations/the-coal-authority

In respect of housing development, the applicant's attention is drawn to part Q1 of the 2010 Building Regulations and Approved Document Q1 (Unauthorised Access) 2015. Specifically that the standards for doors and windows (including locks and other hardware) shall be sufficiently robust and capable of resisting physical attack by a burglar, so as to include euro 'anti-snap' locks or equivalent standard.

Important Information about Your Planning Permission

Town and Country Planning (Development Management Procedure) (England) Order 2015

This decision notice only relates to the grant of planning permission. It does not give any approval or consent which may be needed under any legislation, enactment, bye-laws, order or regulation other than the Town and Country Planning Act 1990 as amended. You may need other approvals, consents or licenses for the development eg building regulations approval.

This permission is granted in strict accordance with the approved plans. It should be noted however that:

- (a) A variation from the approved plans following commencement of the development is likely to constitute unauthorised development and may be liable to enforcement action.
- (b) Variation to the approved plans will require the submission of a new planning application.

This planning permission is granted subject to conditions. Please read the conditions carefully and make sure that you understand what is required to comply with them. It is the responsibility of the owner(s) and the person(s) implementing the development to ensure that the approved plans and these conditions are complied with throughout the development and beyond. Failure to comply with any of the conditions may result in enforcement action.

Grant of Full Planning Permission

Conditions which require work to be carried out or details to be approved prior to commencement are very important and are called 'conditions precedent'.

This means:

- (a) If a condition precedent is not complied with, the whole of the development might be unauthorised and you may be liable to enforcement action.
- (b) Where a condition precedent is breached and the development is unauthorised, the only way to rectify this is by the submission of a new application to obtain a fresh planning permission.

Details of how to apply to discharge condition(s) can be found on our website at <https://www.leeds.gov.uk/planning/planning-permission/find-out-if-you-need-planning-permission/apply-for-planning-permission> under the heading Discharging conditions.

Appeals to the Secretary of State

If you, as applicant, are aggrieved by the decision of your local planning authority to grant permission for the proposed development subject to conditions, then you can appeal to the Secretary of State under section 78 of the Town and Country Planning Act 1990 as amended.

If you, as applicant, want to appeal, you must do so within twelve weeks of the date of this notice (or within 28 days if a valid Enforcement Notice exists for the same or substantially the same development). You should use a form which you can obtain from www.gov.uk/appeal-householder-planning-decision or by email from enquiries@planninginspectorate.gov.uk or by phoning 0303 444 5000.

The Secretary of State can allow a longer period for giving notice of an appeal, but will not normally be prepared to do so unless there are special circumstances which excuse the delay in giving notice of appeal.

You must send one copy of the completed form to planning.appeals@leeds.gov.uk or Appeals Administration, Development Management, Leeds City Council, Merrion House, 110 Merrion Centre, Leeds, LS2 8BB as well as to the Planning Inspectorate at the address on the form.

If you intend to submit an appeal that you would like examined by inquiry, you should notify the Local Planning Authority (planning.appeals@leeds.gov.uk) and the Planning Inspectorate
